BRIEF DESCRIPTION OF DUTIES

Designs, repairs, modifies, and fabricates aircraft, metal, plastic, composite, advanced composite, low observables (LO) coatings, and bonded structural parts and components. Evaluates, installs, removes, and repairs LO coatings. Applies corrosion preservative treatments to aircraft, missiles, and support equipment (SE).

KNOWLEDGE, SKILLS AND ABILITIES (KSAs) REQUIRED FOR THIS POSITION:

- A. Advanced Composite & Sheet Metal Structural Repair Expertise and Oversight: Possess extensive knowledge of sheet metal and advanced composite structural repair methodologies, including damage assessment, material selection, and fabrication techniques IAW applicable technical orders (TOs), for remotely piloted aircraft (RPA). Demonstrated ability to oversee the determination of damage severity, guide the implementation of effective repairs, and ensure the restoration of original structural integrity across various aircraft platforms by subordinates, while guaranteeing compliance with Air Force regulations and maintenance procedures.
- B. Advanced Repair Design & Implementation for Composite Structures and Team Leadership: Proven ability to lead and manage teams in designing, analyzing, and implementing complex structural repairs for military aircraft components, with a focus on advanced composite structures across RPA platforms. Expertise in considering factors like weight, strength, stiffness, aerodynamic performance (where applicable), mission requirements, and the specific properties of advanced composites, and the ability to guide others to do so as well. Proficient in overseeing the use of specialized software, engineering principles, and innovative techniques (e.g., bonded repairs, co-curing) to develop and execute repair solutions that adhere to military specifications and airworthiness directives, ensuring team adherence to these standards.
- C. Aircraft Coatings and Corrosion Control Management: Comprehensive understanding of military aircraft coating systems, including specialized coatings for advanced composite materials, surface preparation, application methods, and corrosion prevention techniques relevant to RPA platforms. Demonstrated ability to supervise the identification, treatment, and prevention of corrosion on various aircraft components, including advanced composite structures, by subordinates, ensuring the use of approved methods, tools, and materials to maintain aircraft readiness and extend service life. Responsible for maintaining a robust corrosion control program.
- D. Technical Data Interpretation, Documentation Oversight, and Communication: Highly skilled in interpreting and applying technical data, including TOs, engineering drawings, and maintenance manuals, to ensure accurate inspection, evaluation, and repair of military aircraft structures and components for unmanned platforms. Oversight of thorough documentation of all maintenance actions within required Air Force maintenance systems (including those specific to RPA maintenance), and effective communication of findings through established military channels, ensuring compliance and data integrity.
- E. Safety and Compliance Leadership: Demonstrates an unwavering commitment to maintaining the highest safety standards and ensuring adherence to all applicable Air Force safety regulations, guidelines, policies, directives (including AFIs and DFMANs), and technical orders in all aspects of aircraft maintenance and repair. Responsible for cultivating a safety-conscious environment and holding subordinates accountable for compliance.
- F. Troubleshooting and Analytical Problem Solving, Delegation and Mentorship: Proven ability to effectively diagnose and resolve complex maintenance issues related to military aircraft structures and systems. Utilize analytical skills, technical expertise, innovative approaches, and applicable TOs to delegate troubleshooting tasks, provide guidance and mentorship to subordinates, and ensure optimal aircraft performance, safety, and mission readiness across all assigned aircraft types.
